1. Philosophy

We have come a long way together with our clients both buyers and sellers listening to their needs and requirements.

And we have seen us obliged and compromised to find a reliable and trustworthy solution for commercializing vehicles in an organized way, but also, which is more complicated, to be able to make profits for both sides.

We in dealerBest are very aware of the possibilities and profits that certain channels of commercialization of well defined product can bring. However, the fact that this products are so specific or even unknown to our clients and the level of specialization that those new channels require, makes it not easy for the clients to start this new adventures.

After all, we want to generate a scalable product which will host every necessary requirements. Those requirements will be put together in a coherent and logical way, so that on one hand the seller can manage the fleet in a easy and profitable way. And as on the other hand, the buyer can make sure that the product will be delivered on time at the correct price and conditions.
